

Justification for Other than Full and Open Competition – Callyo Renewal

1. Title of Procurement:

Callyo Virtual Investigative Phone Lines and Cellular-Based Body Wires

Department of Veterans Affairs
Office of Inspector General
801 I St NW
Washington DC, 20001

2. Nature and/or Description of the Action Being Approved

Virtual Investigative Phone Lines and Cellular-Based Body Wires

3. A Description of the Supplies or Services Required to Meet the Agency's Needs

Renewal of Callyo and increased line capability, 55 users with 110 investigative lines, with Callyo Pro to support criminal and administrative investigations for the VA OIG Office of Investigations (OI).

The VA OIG Cyber Investigations and Technical Operations Division (CITOD) has identified a requirement and need for a flexible audio transmitting and recording solution to aid VA OIG criminal investigators with covertly capturing and monitoring audio communications, both in person and over the phone network, in furtherance of the VA OIG OI law enforcement mission. This action has a total estimated price of $ (FY26 base year cost of $, plus 4 options years

4. An Identification of the Statutory Authority Permitting Other than Full and Open Competition

FAR 6.103-1(b), Only One Responsible Source and no Other Supplies or Services will Satisfy Agency Requirements

5. A Demonstration that the Proposed Contractor's Unique Qualifications or the Nature of the Acquisition Requires Use of the Authority Cited

The Callyo brand software and peripherals are integral and essential to VA OIG's investigative capabilities, and renewing this service is critical to maintain ongoing criminal investigations for reasons including but not limited to the following. Callyo is an integral piece of VA OIG investigative capabilities, and the service is critical for OI's ability to continue ongoing investigations that utilize telephonic consensually monitored conversations and face-to-face undercover operations. Callyo's technical features include the ability to spoof telephone numbers that are used by special agents during undercover operations, and it can also turn any cellular connected mobile device into a strepitous transmitter that routes the audio and video feed to secure Callyo servers where the evidentiary material is maintained. OI has ongoing criminal investigations and undercover operations that require the continued use of specific telephone numbers that are maintained by Callyo, and if another service existed that could provide comparable service, it is not possible to move the numbers that are currently in use, and the evidence that is maintained on Callyo's servers, to another system. Further, OI utilizes the software-based telephone service provided by Callyo to route calls received by OI after hours to duty agent cell phones, thereby enabling OI response capability and coverage 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Replacing Callyo within VA OIG OI would require a revision of multiple internal processes and end user training/increased amount of time to become familiar with a new system before properly operational. The VA OIG's Cyber Investigations and Technical Operations Division (CITOD) conducted market research and technical reviews to identify any competitive services; however, none were identified that are able to provide equal performance to the services offered by Callyo. As explained above, Callyo is the only brand of product that will fulfill and satisfy this VA OIG requirement.

6. A Description of Efforts Made to Ensure that Offers are Solicited from as Many Potential Sources as in Practicable, Including whether a Notice was or will be Publicized as required by subpart 5.2 and, if not, which exception under 5.202 applies.

Additional sources will not be solicited. Per the manufacturer, Callyo does not partner with any authorized resellers, therefore seeking additional sources is not an option.

This notice will be posted on a Government Point of Entry.

7. A Determination by the Contracting Officer that the anticipated cost to the Government will be fair and reasonable.

The price is determined to be Fair and Reasonable by the Contracting Officer. While the price of these services is affected by their uniqueness, they are in line with the IGCE value and the price obtained by other public and private entities. Further, the price is the same as the prior contract period; it was not increased due to inflation. Also, the prices offered for the option years will remain the same as the base year.

8. The Market Research conducted and the results or a statement of the reason market research was not conducted.

Each year, including the time period prior to this procurement, VAOIG 51E agents attended multiple national conferences and trade shows for the National Technical Investigators Association to conduct market research regarding the replacement of current technologies and services used by the Office of Investigations. These events are specific to law enforcement, military, and intelligence agencies use of covert electronic surveillance. During these trade shows, 51E was unable to identify any other service that provides all the features and requirements that are met by Callyo. One vendor's product was deemed unacceptable because, during testing, the caller's identity was revealed to the receiving number, which could compromise an undercover agent or confidential human source's anonymity during a criminal investigation. 51E has determined that the features of Callyo meet the minimum needs necessary to perform OIG's investigative functions. Further, Callyo is the standard among investigative agencies.

9. Any other Facts Supporting the Use of Other than Full and Open Competition

VA OIG OI currently has multiple active investigations utilizing the Callyo service. Specifically, these investigations are using phone numbers that were obtained from Callyo that directly correspond to undercover agents, suspect individuals, and suspect businesses. These active telephone numbers would be lost without Callyo. The Callyo system also maintains evidence related to these investigations.

10. A Listing of the Sources, if any, that Expressed, in Writing, an Interest in the Acquisition

None.

11. A Statement of the Actions, if any, the Agency may take to remove or overcome any barriers to competition before any subsequent acquisition for the supplies or services required.

VA OIG will continue reviewing the marketplace in seeking out available products and services to facilitate the maximum degree of practical competition.

12. Contracting Officer Certification that the Justification is accurate and complete to the best of the Contracting Officer's knowledge and belief.

I certify that the facts are representations under my cognizance, which are included in this justification, are complete and accurate, and the particular brand name, product, or feature described above is essential to VA OIG's requirements, and market research indicates other companies' similar products, or products lacking the particular feature, do not meet, or cannot be modified to meet, the agency's needs.
