

PERFORMANCE WORK STATEMENT

Protective Intelligence Practical Exercise Interview Training

Part 1

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. INTRODUCTION:

The United States Secret Service (USSS) James J. Rowley Training Center (RTC) provides all specialized training for USSS Special Agents and Secret Service Police Officers. The mission is to prepare USSS Special Agents and Police Officers to deal with subjects who directly have an interest or nexus to the people we protect. These individuals typically live with mental illness requiring our Special Agents and Police Officers to understand the fundamentals of various mental illnesses, how these affect a person's perception of reality and how to communicate with these persons effectively.

These Protective Intelligence (PI) skills require that Special Agents and Police Officers understand and be able to employ a variety of specialized investigative tools and techniques. Among these is the ability to interview PI subjects, the individuals whose threats, unusual direction of interest and inappropriate behaviors place them at the center of PI investigations.

Special Agents and Uniformed Division officers must possess specialized interviewing skills that are highlighted by two important facts. First, the primary objective of U.S. Secret Service protective intelligence investigations is to render a sound evaluation of a subject's risk of unwanted outcome. This requires that Special Agents and Uniformed Division officers execute protective intelligence interviews in a manner that differs in key aspects from traditional criminal interrogations. Second, most U.S. Secret Service protective intelligence subjects live with mental illness. This requires that Special Agents and Uniformed Division officers understand the fundamentals of various mental illnesses, how these affect a person's perception of reality, and how to communicate with these people effectively.

1.1 Scope:

This is a non-personal services contract/order to provide contractor services to instruct protective intelligence practical exercise interview training as part of the USSS protective intelligence basic and advance training program. This procurement is for a primary instructor (psychologist) and a secondary instructor (psycho dramatist).

The contractor shall provide all personnel, equipment, supplies, facilities, transportation, tools, materials, supervision, and other items of non-personal services necessary to perform lectures, demonstrations, and psycho dramatic roles at RTC facilities as defined in this Performance Work Statement except for those items specified as Government

Furnished Property (GFP) and services. The contractor shall accomplish all lectures, demonstrations, and psycho dramatic roles on the dates scheduled, within the times allotted

1.2. Specific Tasks:

The contracted psychologist and psycho dramatist will provide all academic knowledge, skills and experiences along with goods or services produced such as research reports, curriculum development, lecture notes, or educational data sets, demonstrations of potential interviews or encounters with subjects displaying various mental illnesses and practical exercises or lectures on how to handle such encounters, to USSS Special Agents and Police Officers.

1.2.1. Basic Services:

Contractors shall provide their own transportation to and from RTC at their expense along with lecture notes, Power Point handouts, and any lecture material. Contractors will also provide their own costumes, make up, appearance modification disguises, props, or any item carried or worn specifically to develop their character(s).

1) Protective Intelligence Simulations – Special Agent Training Course (SATC)

- Duration: 2-DAY Course (A & B Sessions, 8 hours each) Total of 16 hours = 1 Class
- Number of Students in attendance per session/class: Maximum of 24 Students Total

The objective of this course of instruction is to provide SATC recruits an opportunity to deepen their understanding of the protective intelligence threat assessment process and cultivate their skills at interviewing and assessing protective intelligence subjects. This will be accomplished through brief classroom instruction at the start of class, and through several distinct simulated protective intelligence interview scenarios. The primary instructor will facilitate instruction, including instruction at the start of class, and coach/guide recruits during the simulated protective intelligence interviews. The secondary instructor (Psycho dramatist) will portray the protective intelligence subjects during the simulated interviews and provide feedback at the conclusion of the training class. The primary instructor must have conducted numerous mental health evaluations and treatment of mentally ill patients suffering from various disorders to include Schizophrenia, Bipolar Mood Disorder, and Antisocial Disorder. The secondary instructor or psycho-dramatist will portray the roles in the simulated protective intelligence interviews. He or she must be trained to the standards of the American Board of Examiners in Psychodrama and Sociometry and must have experience working in a law enforcement environment, portraying persons who live with a variety of mental illnesses.

A 'stop-action' coaching methodology will be employed by the primary and secondary instructor during the simulated protective intelligence interviews. This will give the primary instructor the opportunity to provide Special Agent recruits with real-time feedback during the practical exercises. It will also allow the primary instructor to replace the recruits conducting the interview, thereby allowing all recruits the chance to participate in the simulated protective intelligence interviews.

All simulated protective intelligence interviews will be observed by the entire class. The recruits' participation in the simulated interviews will serve as the catalyst for the primary instructor to speak with recruits about the information learned during the interviews, strategies for case management, and related considerations. The recruits' participation in the simulated interviews will also serve as the catalyst for RTC PI Section staff to provide recruits operational guidance regarding how the simulated PI interview scenarios would be managed in the real world.

This class will be delivered to a maximum of 24 total Special Agent recruits over the course of two days. One group of 12 recruits will receive instruction on the first day, and the second group of 12 recruits will receive instruction on the second day. This two-day format will allow all 24 students to participate in the simulated interviews and associated discussions regarding case management.

Each simulated interview will be designed by the primary and/or secondary instructor with input from RTC PI program staff.

The primary and secondary instructors must possess sufficient versatility in the facilitation of instruction and portrayal of the roles to allow for adjustments to meet the individual learning needs of the recruits. To this end, the primary and secondary instructors must have a thorough understanding of the concept of protective intelligence, coupled with an in-depth appreciation of the behavioral analysis approach to protective intelligence investigations.

As a caveat to the above requirements, the primary instructor shall be responsible for providing the RTC PI Section with suitable replacements if the primary and/or secondary instructor are not available to instruct an SATC class as scheduled. The replacements are expected to possess credentials and a level of experience suitable for a law enforcement training environment. The replacements will be compensated by the primary instructor as subcontractors, and no additional payment for this service will be provided by the U.S. Secret Service. The replacement instructors must be able to pass a background investigation to gain access to U.S. Secret Service facilities and information. RTC PI Section management reserves the right to vet the academic credentials presented by the replacement primary and/or secondary instructors, including their psycho-dramatist credentials, prior to a scheduled class. The primary instructor will provide the RTC PI Section staff sufficient notice of his or her intention to use a replacement or replacements to allow the RTC PI Section staff an opportunity to complete the vetting process and arrange for proper security clearances for the individual.

The primary and/or secondary instructor shall work with RTC PI Section staff to create and/or update and/or modify the interview scenarios periodically to ensure their timeliness and relevance.

Protective Intelligence Final Practical Exercise at the Bell Raid House– SATC

- Duration: 2-DAY Course (A & B Sessions, 8 hours each) Total of 16 hours = One (1) SATC Class
- Number of Students in attendance per session/class: 12/24 Total

The objective of this course of instruction is to provide SATC recruits an opportunity to deepen their understanding of the protective intelligence threat assessment process and cultivate their skills at interviewing and assessing protective intelligence subjects. This will be accomplished through a single, complex simulated protective intelligence interview executed in a simulated protective intelligence subject's home environment. An RTC PI Section instructor will facilitate instruction and coach/guide recruits during the simulated protective intelligence interview. The primary or secondary instructor (psycho dramatist) will portray the protective intelligence subject during the simulated interview. He or she will also provide feedback at the conclusion of the training class. The primary or secondary instructor will be a psycho-dramatist who will portray the role in the simulated protective intelligence interview. He or she must be trained to the standards of the American Board of Examiners in Psychodrama and Sociometry and must have experience working in a law enforcement environment, portraying persons who live with a variety of mental illnesses.

A 'stop-action' coaching methodology will be employed by the RTC PI Section instructor and by the primary or secondary instructor during the simulated protective intelligence interview. This will give the RTC PI Section instructor the opportunity to provide Special Agent recruits real-time feedback during the practical exercise. It will also allow the RTC PI Section instructor to replace the recruits conducting the interview, thereby allowing all recruits the chance to participate in the simulated protective intelligence interview.

The simulated protective intelligence interview will be observed by the entire class. The recruits' participation in the simulated interview will serve as the catalyst for the RTC PI program instructor to speak with recruits about the information learned during the interview, strategies for case management, and related considerations. The recruits' participation in the simulated interview will also serve as the catalyst for the RTC PI Section instructor to provide recruits operational guidance regarding how the simulated PI interview scenarios would be managed in the real world.

This class will be delivered to 24 total Special Agent recruits over the course of two days. One cohort of 12 recruits will receive instruction on the first day in two groups of six recruits each. One group of six recruits will receive instruction in the morning, and the second group of six recruits will receive instruction in the afternoon. The second cohort of 12 recruits will receive instruction on the second day in two groups of six recruits each. One group of six recruits will receive instruction in the morning, and the second group of six recruits will receive instruction in the afternoon. This training format will allow all 24 students to participate in the simulated interviews and associated discussions regarding case management.

Each simulated interview will be designed by the primary and secondary instructor with input from RTC PI Section staff.

The primary or secondary instructor who will portray the role in the simulated protective intelligence interview described herein must possess sufficient versatility in the facilitation of instruction and portrayal of the roles to allow for adjustments to meet the individual learning needs of the recruits. To this end, the primary or secondary instructor must have a thorough understanding of the concept of protective intelligence, coupled with an in-depth appreciation of the behavioral analysis approach to protective intelligence investigations.

As a caveat to the above requirements, the primary or secondary instructor shall be responsible for providing the RTC PI Section with a suitable replacement if the primary and/or secondary instructor is not available to instruct an SATC class as scheduled. The replacement is expected to possess credentials and a level of experience suitable to a law enforcement training environment. The replacement will be compensated by the primary instructor as subcontractors, and no additional payment for this service will be provided by the U.S. Secret Service. The replacement instructors must be able to pass a background investigation to gain access to U.S. Secret Service facilities and information. RTC PI Section management reserves the right to vet the academic credentials presented by the replacement instructor, including his or her psycho-dramatist credentials, prior to a scheduled class. The primary instructor will provide the RTC PI Section staff sufficient notice of his or her intention to use a replacement to allow the RTC PI program staff an opportunity to complete the vetting process and arrange for proper security clearances for the individual.

The primary and/or secondary instructor shall work with RTC PI Section staff to create and/or update and/or modify the interview scenarios periodically to ensure their timeliness and relevance.

Protective Intelligence Questioning for 1st Line Officers course – Uniformed Division Training Course (UDTC)

- Duration: One-Day Course Total of five (5) Hours Each
- Number of Students in attendance per Class: 24 Total

The objective of this five (5) hour course of instruction is to provide UDTC recruits an opportunity to deepen their understanding of the threat assessment process and cultivate their skills at interviewing and assessing protective intelligence subjects. This will be accomplished through brief classroom instruction at the start of class, and through several distinct simulated protective intelligence interview scenarios designed to simulate what Uniformed Division officers are likely to encounter on duty. An RTC PI Section instructor will facilitate instruction and will coach/guide recruits during the simulated protective intelligence interviews. The primary or secondary instructor (psycho dramatist) will portray the protective intelligence subjects during the simulated interviews and provide feedback at the conclusion of the training class. The primary or secondary instructor will be a psycho-dramatist trained to the standards of the American Board of Examiners in Psychodrama and Sociometry and must have experience working in a law enforcement environment, portraying persons who live with a variety of mental illnesses.

A 'stop-action' coaching methodology will be employed by the RTC PI Section instructor during the simulated protective intelligence interviews. This will give the RTC PI Section instructor the opportunity to provide Uniformed Division officer recruits real-time feedback during the practical exercises. It will also allow the RTC PI Section instructor to replace the recruits conducting the interview, thereby allowing all recruits the chance to participate in the simulated protective intelligence interviews.

All simulated protective intelligence interviews will be observed by the entire class. The recruits' participation in the simulated interviews will serve as the catalyst for the RTC PI Section instructor to speak with recruits about the information learned during the interviews, strategies for case management, and other considerations. The recruits' participation in the simulated interviews will also serve as the catalyst for RTC PI Section staff to provide recruits operational guidance regarding how the simulated PI interview scenarios would be managed in the real world.

This class will be delivered to 24 total Uniformed Division officer recruits.

Each simulated interview will be designed by the primary and/or secondary instructor with input from RTC PI Section staff.

The primary or secondary instructor must possess sufficient versatility in the facilitation of instruction and portrayal of the roles to allow for adjustments to meet the individual learning needs of the recruits. To this end, the primary or secondary instructor must have a thorough understanding of the concept of PI, coupled with an in-depth appreciation of the behavioral analysis approach to PI investigations.

As a caveat to the above requirements, the primary instructor shall be responsible for providing the RTC PI Section with suitable replacements if the primary and/or secondary instructor is not available to instruct a UDTC class as scheduled. The replacement is expected to possess credentials and a level of experience suitable to a law enforcement training environment. The replacement will be compensated by the primary instructor as a subcontractor, and no additional payment for this service will be provided by the U.S. Secret Service. The replacement instructors must be able to pass a background investigation to gain access to U.S. Secret Service facilities and information. RTC PI Section management reserves the right to vet the academic credentials presented by the replacement instructor, including his or her psycho-dramatist credentials, prior to a scheduled class. The primary instructor will provide the RTC PI Section staff sufficient notice of his or her intention to use a replacement to allow the RTC PI program staff an opportunity to complete the vetting process and arrange for proper security clearances for the individual.

The primary and/or secondary instructor shall work with RTC PI program staff to create and/or update and/or modify the interview scenarios periodically to ensure their timeliness and relevance.

Protective Intelligence In-service: Advanced Interviewing Skills Course

- Duration: One-Day Course Total of 11 Hours Each
- Number of Students in attendance per Class: 18 Total

The objective of this advanced course of instruction/practical exercise is to provide operational Special Agents with the opportunity to deepen their understanding of complex protective intelligence threat assessment cases and cultivate their existing skills at interviewing and assessing protective intelligence subjects. This will be accomplished through a single, complex simulated protective intelligence interview, and through simulated corroborative interviews. The primary instructor will facilitate instruction, including instruction at the start of class, and coach/guide Special Agents during the simulated protective intelligence interview and simulated corroborative interviews. The secondary instructor (psycho dramatist) will portray the protective intelligence subject during the simulated interviews and will provide feedback at the conclusion of the training class. The secondary instructor will be a psycho-dramatist trained to the standards of the American Board of Examiners in Psychodrama and Sociometry and must have experience working in a law enforcement environment, portraying persons who live with a variety of mental illnesses.

RTC PI Section instructors will portray simulated protective intelligence corroborative interview roles.

A ‘stop-action’ coaching methodology will be employed by the primary instructor during the simulated protective intelligence interview and simulated corroborative interviews. This will give the primary instructor the opportunity to provide Special Agents with real-time feedback during the practical exercises. It will also allow the primary instructor to replace the Special Agents conducting the interview, thereby allowing all Special Agents in attendance the chance to participate in the simulated protective intelligence interview and corroborative interviews.

The simulated protective intelligence interview and corroborative interview will be observed by the entire class. Special Agents’ participation in the simulated protective intelligence interview and simulated corroborative interviews will serve as the catalyst for the primary instructor to speak with Special Agents about the information learned during the interviews, strategies for case management, and related considerations. Special Agents’ participation in the simulated interviews will also serve as the catalyst for RTC PI Section staff to provide Special Agents operational guidance regarding case management options.

This training course will also include an additional role of psychiatrist to be played separately from the role portrayed by the secondary instructor. This role will allow the students to demonstrate how to elicit and extract confidential patient information pursuant to U.S. Secret Service and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services policies and procedures. The person who performs this role must have a background in psychiatry or psychology, and field experience with mental health evaluations and treatment of persons who live with mental illness, including, but not limited to, Schizophrenia, Bipolar Mood Disorder, and Anti-Social Disorder. If the primary instructor possesses the credential described above, he or she may portray this role in addition to his or her role as primary instructor/facilitator.

This class will be delivered to 18 total sworn U.S. Secret Service Special Agents.

The simulated interview will be designed by the primary and/or secondary instructor with input from RTC PI Section staff.

The primary and secondary instructors must possess sufficient versatility in the facilitation of instruction and portrayal roles to allow for adjustments to meet the individual learning needs of the Special Agents in attendance. To this end, the primary and secondary instructors must have a thorough understanding of the concept of protective intelligence, coupled with an in-depth appreciation of the behavioral analysis approach to protective intelligence investigations.

As a caveat to the above requirements, the primary instructor shall be responsible for providing the RTC PI program with suitable replacements if the primary and/or secondary instructors are not available to instruct a class as scheduled. The replacements are expected to possess credentials and a level of experience suitable for a law enforcement training environment. The replacements will be compensated by the primary instructor as a subcontractor, and no additional payment for this service will be provided by the U.S. Secret Service. The replacements must be able to pass a background investigation to gain access to U.S. Secret Service facilities and information. RTC PI program management reserves the right to vet the academic credentials presented by the replacement instructors, including their psycho-dramatist credentials, prior to a scheduled class. The primary instructor will provide the RTC PI program staff sufficient notice of his or her intention to use replacements to allow the RTC PI program staff an opportunity to complete the vetting process and arrange for proper security clearances for that person.

The primary and/or secondary instructor shall work with RTC PI Section staff to create and/or update and/or modify the interview scenarios periodically to ensure their timeliness and relevance.

Deliverables

The primary and/or secondary contractor will collaborate with RTC PI Section staff to create and/or update and/or modify the following deliverables:

- Lesson plans
- PowerPoint presentations based on the lesson plans

- Classroom handouts and other educational aids for distribution to students
- PI interview instruction scenario outlines and scripts

RTC PI Section staff will consult with the primary and/or secondary instructor on a deadline for the submission of these materials. The primary and/or secondary instructor will work with RTC PI Section staff to develop and submit these materials according to the agreed deadline.

Revisions to, or the development of, simulated protective intelligence interview scenarios and other teaching materials shall be determined by the needs of the U.S. Secret Service as described by the RTC PI Section staff.

Documentation Ownership

Simulated protective intelligence scenarios and other teaching materials developed or revised by the primary and/or secondary instructor, along with associated documentation, including, but not limited to, lesson plans, scripts, outlines, student handouts, and other teaching materials generated in support of the development and/or revision of the instruction described herein shall be executed at the direction of, with input from, and in support of, the U.S. Secret Service. These and any other materials developed in support of the training described herein shall be the property of the U.S. Government.

Applicable Documents

The primary and secondary instructors shall provide copies of his or her curriculum vitae, including copies of any certificates, diplomas, certifications, and other materials that document the required credentials described herein.

1.2.2. Task Heading. Government Furnished Property:

The U.S. Government will provide the training equipment and environment necessary to facilitate effectively the protective intelligence practical exercise interview training describe herein. This includes, but is not necessarily limited to classroom space, overheard projectors, projector screen, dry erase boards, dry erase markers, simulated single-family house, furniture, chairs, tables, desks, or any typical classroom furniture.

1.3 Period of Performance:

The period of performance will consist of one (1) base year of twelve (12) months and four (4) option years, consisting of (12) months, for a total period of five (5) years. The Period of Performance reads as follows:

Base Year - TBD

Option Year I - TBD

Option Year II - TBD

Option Year III - TBD

Option Year IV - TBD

1.4 General Information

1.4.1 Quality Control Plan (QCP):

To ensure services are performed in accordance with this PWS, the contractor will develop and maintain an effective quality control program. The contractor will develop and implement procedures to identify, prevent, and ensure non-recurrence of defective services. The contractor's quality control program is how the contractor assures that the work complies with the requirement of the contract. This QCP is to be delivered within 30 days after the contract award or with the contractor's proposal. After acceptance of the quality control plan the contractor will receive the contracting officer's acceptance in writing of any proposed change to his QC system.

1.4.2 Quality Assurance:

The Government shall evaluate the contractor's performance under this contract in accordance with the Quality Assurance Surveillance Plan (QASP). This evaluation will consist of a "Contractor Evaluation Checklist" (CEC) completed after every iteration of the courses in the PWS. The CEC will be based on Contractor Readiness, Contractor Performance, Contractor Activities, and General Remarks from the RTC PI Section staff instructors. This plan is primarily focused on what the Government must do to ensure that the contractor has performed in accordance with the performance standards. It defines how the performance standards will be applied, the frequency of surveillance, and the minimum acceptable defect rate(s).

1.4.3 Recognized Holidays:

The contractor will not be required to work on the federal holidays listed below or any designated federal holiday not listed below, later designated as a holiday. However, due to circumstances beyond the control of the U.S. Government i.e. severe weather, the contractor may be required to reschedule forward training days cancelled due to inclement weather, until the inclement weather has abated.

New Year's Day	Labor Day
Martin Luther King Jr.'s Birthday	Columbus Day
President's Day	Veteran's Day
Memorial Day	Thanksgiving Day
Juneteenth	Christmas Day
Independence Day

1.4.4 Hours of Operation:

The contractor is responsible for conducting business between the hours designated in the description above for each individual class. Typically, the courses will be on Monday through Friday from 0800 hours to 1700 hours or 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM with a one-hour intermission for lunch, except Federal holidays or when the Government facility is closed due to local or national emergencies, administrative closings, or similar Government directed facility closings. For other than Firm Fixed Price (FFP) contracts/orders, the contractor will not be reimbursed when the Government facility is closed for the above reasons. The contractor must always maintain an adequate workforce for the uninterrupted performance of all tasks defined within this PWS when the Government facility is not closed for the above reasons. When hiring personnel, the contractor should keep in mind that the stability and continuity of the workforce are essential.

1.4.5 Place of Performance:

The work to be performed under this contract/order will be performed at the James J. Rowley Training Center 9200 Powder Mill Road Laurel, MD 20705 unless prior arrangements or unusual circumstances beyond the control of the U.S. Government dictate otherwise

1.4.6 Type of Contract:

This contract will be a Firm Fixed-Price (FFP) contract.

1.4.7 Security Requirements:

The primary and secondary instructors (psycho dramatist) and their replacement instructor contractors must be able to pass a background investigation to gain access to U.S. Secret Service facilities and information. All primary and secondary instructors, contractor personnel and their replacements performing work under this contract/order must have and be able to maintain at the time of proposal submission the level of security required for the life of the contract/order.

The security requirements are in accordance with the attached DD254.

1.4.7.1 Controlled Access Facilities / Information Systems Security:

The primary and secondary instructors (psycho dramatist) and their replacement instructor contractors shall be citizens of the United States.

- The US Secret Service Contracting Officer Representative (COR) or their US Secret Service designee is responsible for determining the contract employee's position description level as being either Escort Access, Low Risk, or High Risk. The COR or their designee will also make the determination when contract employees require access to US Secret Service controlled Information Technology systems, unless otherwise stipulated within this Statement of Work.
- Contract employees shall undergo a Suitability Assessment as determined by the US Secret Service's Security Management Division's Contractor Support Branch (SMD-CSB) prior to performing any work within US Secret Services controlled access facilities or on US Secret Service's information technology systems. Additional Continuous Suitability Reviews will be required for continued work requirements as determined by SMD-CSB, but no less than once every two years.
- The RTC PI Section staff will ensure contractors and their replacements are precleared prior to the start of any US Secret Service (USSS) contract.

- Contractor employees for High Risk shall possess a current Tier 4 investigation and a Public Trust prior to performing any work within USSS controlled access facilities or on USSS information technology systems. The COR or their designee is responsible for ensuring that all employees supporting USSS contracts are compliant with USSS security requirements. Additional Continuous Suitability Reviews shall be required for continued work requirements as determined by Security Management Division (SMD).
- At a minimum, the contractor shall submit to the COR the following completed documentation for each High-Risk contract employee requiring access to US Secret Services controlled access facilities, to satisfy initial and/or recurring (as requested by the COR) Continuous Suitability Reviews:
 - DHS-11000-25: Contractor Fitness/Security Screens Request Form
 - SSF 4024: US Secret Service Non-Disclosure Agreement
 - SSF 3230A: Disclosure and Authorization Pertaining To Consumer Reports Pursuant To the Fair Credit Report Act
 - Form 14767: Consent to Disclose Tax Compliance Check (IRS Tax Form)
- When work performance requirements exceed non-sensitive standards, additional Continuous Suitability Reviews will be required prior to access being granted, specifically:
 - Contract employees who provide support in Non-IT Low Risk positions must have undergone a minimum of a Tier 1/NACI (National Agency Check and Inquiries) or a higher level favorable Public Trust background investigation within the last 5 years.
 - Contract employees who provide support in High-Risk positions must have undergone a minimum of a Tier 4 Public Trust or higher-level favorable background investigation within the last 5 years.
 - For certain positions, SMD may require a contractor to complete the below electronic forms and be subject to a personnel security interview:
 - Low Risk - SF 85: Questionnaire for Non-Sensitive Positions
 - High Risk - SF 85P: Questionnaire for Public Trust Positions

1.4.7.2 Secret Facility Clearance (If applicable): NA

The contractor shall possess and maintain a facility clearance from the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency (DCSA). The contractor's employees, performing work in support of this contract shall have been granted a security clearance from the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office. The DD 254 is provided as Attachment.

1.4.7.3 PRIVACY Act:

The primary and secondary instructors (psycho dramatist) and their replacement instructor contractors shall adhere to the Privacy Act, Title 5 of the U.S. Code, Section 552a and applicable agency rules and regulations.

1.4.7.4 PHYSICAL Security:

The primary and secondary instructors (psycho dramatist) and their replacement instructor contractors shall be responsible for safeguarding all Government equipment, information and property provided for contractor use at the James J. Rowley Training Center. At the close of each work period, Government facilities, equipment, and materials shall be secured.

1.4.7.5 Badge/Key Control: N/A

The contractor shall establish and implement methods of making sure all badges, keys, and/or key cards issued to the contractor by the Government are not lost or misplaced and are not used by unauthorized persons. No keys issued to the contractor by the Government shall be duplicated. The contractor shall develop procedures covering badge/key control that shall be included in the Quality Control Plan. Such procedures shall include turn-in of any issued keys by personnel who no longer require access to locked areas. The contractor shall immediately report any occurrences of lost badges, lost or duplicate keys/key cards to the Contracting Officer.

1.4.7.5.1. LOST KEYS:

In the event keys, are lost or duplicated, the Government can bill the contractor for the total cost of re-keying or replacement of the lock or locks. In the event a master key is lost or duplicated, all locks and keys for that system shall be replaced by the Government and the total cost deducted from the monthly payment due the contractor.

1.4.7.5.2.

The contractor shall prohibit the use of Government issued badges, keys, and/or key cards by any person other than the contractor's employees. The contractor shall prohibit the opening of locked areas by contractor employees to permit entrance of people other than contractor employees engaged in the performance of assigned work in those areas, or personnel authorized entrance by the Contracting Officer.

14.7.6 Lock Combinations: N/A

The contractor shall establish and implement methods of ensuring that all lock combinations are not revealed to unauthorized persons. The contractor shall ensure that lock combinations are changed when personnel having access to the combinations no longer have a need to know such combinations. These procedures shall be included in the Contractor's Quality Control Plan.

1.4.7 Special Qualifications:

The contracted psychologist and psycho dramatist will provide all academic knowledge, skills and experiences along with goods or services produced such as research reports, curriculum development, lecture notes, or educational data sets, demonstrations of potential interviews or encounters with subjects displaying various mental illnesses and practical exercises or lectures on how to handle such encounters.

1.4.8 Post Award Conference/Periodic Progress Meetings:

The contractor agrees to attend any post award conference conducted by the contracting activity or contract administration office in accordance with Federal Acquisition Regulation Subpart 42.5. The contracting officer, Contracting Officer Representative (COR), and other Government personnel, as appropriate, may meet periodically with the contractor to review the contractor's performance. At these meetings the contracting officer will appraise the contractor of how the government views the contractor's performance and the contractor will appraise the Government of problems, if any, being experienced. Appropriate action should be taken to resolve outstanding issues. These meetings shall be at no additional cost to the Government.

1.4.9 Contracting Officer Representative (COR):

The COR will be identified by separate letter. The COR monitors all technical aspects of the contract and assists in contract administration. The COR is authorized to perform the following functions: assure that the contractor performs the technical requirements of the contract/order; perform inspections necessary in connection with contract performance; maintain written and oral communications with the contractor concerning technical aspects of the contract/order; issue written interpretations of technical requirements, including Government drawings, designs, specifications; monitor contractor's performance and notifies both the Contracting Officer and contractor of any deficiencies; coordinate availability of GFP, and provide site entry of contractor personnel. A letter of appointment issued to the COR, a copy of which is sent to the contractor, states the responsibilities and limitations of the COR, especially regarding changes in cost or price, estimates or changes in delivery dates. The COR is not authorized to change any of the terms and conditions of the resulting order.

1.4.10 Key Personnel:

The following personnel are considered key personnel by the Government:

Assistant to the Special Agent in Charge (ASAIC) Basic Skills Branch

Assistant to the Special Agent in Charge (ATSAIC) of PI Section

Special Agent (SA) Back-up PI Section

Law Enforcement Specialist (LES) Logistics PI Section

Contract Officer (CO)

Contract Officer Representative (COR)

The contractor shall provide a contract manager who shall be responsible for the performance of the work. The name of this person and an alternate who shall act for the contractor when the manager is absent shall be designated in writing to the contracting officer. The contract manager or alternate shall have full authority to act for the contractor on all contract matters relating to daily operation of this contract. The contract manager or alternate shall be available between 8:00 a.m. to 4:30p.m., Monday through Friday except Federal holidays or when the Government facility is closed for administrative reasons. Qualifications for all key personnel are listed below

1.4.11 Contractor Travel: N/A

The primary and secondary instructor (psycho dramatist) and replacement instructors' contractors shall provide their own transportation to and from RTC at their expense. They will be allowed to park in the available parking spaces at RTC parking lots.

Contractors will be required to travel CONUS and within the National Capital Region (NCR) during the performance of this contract to attend meetings, conferences, and training. The contractor may be required to travel to off-site training locations and to ship training aids to these locations in support of this PWS. Contractor will be authorized travel expenses consistent with FAR 31.205-46, the substantive provisions of the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR), and the limitation of funds specified in this contract. All travel requires Government approval/authorization and notification to the COR.

1.4.12 Other Direct Costs:

The other direct cost category includes travel (outlined in 1.4.12), reproduction, and shipping expenses associated with training activities and visits to contractor facilities. It could also entail the renting of suitable training venues.

1.4.13 Data Rights:

The Government has unlimited rights to all documents/material produced under this contract. All documents and materials, to include the source codes of any software, produced under this contract shall be Government owned and are the property of the Government with all rights and privileges of ownership/copyright belonging exclusively to the Government. These documents and materials may not be used or sold by the contractor without written permission from the Contracting Officer. All materials supplied to the Government shall be the sole property of the Government and may not be used for any other purpose. This right does not abrogate any other Government rights.

1.4.14 Organizational Conflict of Interest:

Contractor and subcontractor personnel performing work under this contract may receive, have access to or participate in the development of proprietary or source selection information (e.g., cost or pricing information, budget information or analyses, specifications or work statements, etc.) or perform evaluation services which may create a current or subsequent Organizational Conflict of Interests (OCI) as defined in FAR Subpart 9.5. The contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer immediately whenever it becomes aware that such access or participation may result in any actual or potential OCI and shall promptly submit a plan to the Contracting Officer to avoid or mitigate any such OCI. The contractor's mitigation plan will be determined to be acceptable solely at the discretion of the Contracting Officer and in the event the Contracting Officer unilaterally determines that any such OCI cannot be satisfactorily avoided or mitigated, the Contracting Officer may affect other remedies as he or she deems necessary, including prohibiting the contractor from participation in subsequent contracted requirements which may be affected by the OCI.

1.4.15 Phase In /Phase Out Period:

To minimize any decreases in productivity and to prevent possible negative impacts on additional services, the contractor shall have personnel on board, during the time period of thirty (30) phase in/ phase out periods. During the phase in period, the contractor shall become familiar with performance requirements to commence full performance of services on the contract start date.
