

BCANGB – C-UAS SOURCES SOUGHT

THIS IS A SOURCES SOUGHT NOTICE FOR MARKET REASEARCH ONLY; THIS IS NOT A FORMAL SOLICITATION OR REQUEST FOR QUOTE (RFQ)

The 110th Wing is conducting preliminary Market Research to assess market availability of vendors who are able to provide a counter-unmanned aerial system (C-UAS) to the 110th Wing, Battle Creek Air National Guard Base, Michigan. This requirement is anticipated to result in a Firm-Fixed Price contract.

Requirements: The system must be an integrated, man-portable solution that allows a single operator to detect, track, identify, and mitigate small Unmanned Aerial Systems (UAS), specifically Groups 1 and 2. The system shall be capable of disrupting drone threats, including both single drones and swarms, on both radio and GPS satellite frequencies. The requirement is for two (2) handheld drone gun systems and an on-site training package for up to 10 members. System will have to be one that is capable of being vetted and approved for use with a 130i approved package. Please see the attached Salient Characteristics for additional information.

The North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) code anticipated for industry classification is 334290, "Other Communications Equipment Manufacturing."

All information from interested parties that is received in response to this Sources Sought notice will be collected and saved until which time this potential requirement becomes defined. A solicitation MAY be issued at that time. This Sources Sought Notice is being posted for Market Research purposed only to identify potential vendors and evaluate Small Business capabilities who are able to provide the supplies listed above and further described in the attached Salient Characteristics.

If you are an interested party who is able to provide these supplies, please provide a capability statement identifying your firm's ability to meet these requirements via email to TSgt Joseph Bryant at joseph.bryant.14@us.af.mil. If have any questions regarding this requirement, please submit as a Request for Information (RFI) to TSgt Joseph Bryant at the email above.
