Classification: UNCLASSIFIED

INTRODUCTION

The Air Force Life Cycle Management Center, Presidential and Executive Airpower Directorate is hosting an Industry Day to provide information to interested vendors regarding the “Looking Glass-Next” (LG-N) acquisition program. The LG-N program is aimed at recapitalizing missions currently executed on the E-6B. The Government is seeking information on industry’s ability to deliver a complete weapon system to include aircraft, mission systems, training systems, system integration lab, training, and ground support systems.

This announcement is for a classified Industry Day to discuss upcoming acquisition opportunities for the LG-N mission. There will be opportunity for one-on-one sessions with the USG team, please indicate your interest during registration. The event will be held at the SECRET level. This is an opportunity for industry partners to learn about future requirements and to engage with LG-N program leadership. This Industry Day event is for market research purposes only in accordance with Revolutionary Federal Acquisition Regulation Overhaul (RFO) Part 10 – Market Research.

Date: 03 June 2026
