

Subject: Community Announcement: Release Status of an Earth Venture Orbital Solicitation

Dear Colleagues,

NASA's Science Mission Directorate (SMD), Earth Science Division (ESD), is pleased to announce the release of a Community Announcement as an advanced notice of NASA's intention to solicit Earth Venture (EV) investigations. The full announcement can be found on the EVO-1 Acquisition Homepage (<https://essp.larc.nasa.gov/EVO-1>).

This will be the first solicitation in the Earth Venture Orbital (EVO) series and will be soliciting innovative, Principal Investigator (PI)-led, cost-capped investigations for operations in Low Earth Orbit (LEO).

The solicitation will focus on:

- Faster time-to-science
- Strategic use of commercial capabilities
- Promoting partnerships

NASA encourages feedback in response to this Community Announcement to help shape release of the first EVO solicitation. Questions or comments about this EVO-1 Community Announcement should be submitted by April 23, 2026. The received questions and answers will be posted on the EVO-1 Acquisition Homepage (<https://essp.larc.nasa.gov/EVO-1>).

For questions or comments, please contact:

- Michael Kaszyca, NASA Earth System Science Pathfinder (ESSP) Program Office Deputy Program Manager, michael.kaszyca@nasa.gov
- Nadya Vinogradova Shiffer, Program Scientist, nadya@nasa.gov

We look forward to engaging with interested partners to continue advancing Earth Science through innovative collaborations.

Sincerely,
NASA Earth Science Division
