Conference/Meeting Room Details: All meeting rooms used for UCE sessions must have solid walls on all sides as a quiet environment is important for the testing candidates. Rooms with air walls may be used if OCC functions are held on both sides of the air wall or if the room on one side of the air wall remains vacant. Rooms with airwalls may also be used if approved by the COR/Designee. Converted guest lodging rooms are generally acceptable as Panel Meeting Rooms, but must be adjacent to each other.

Room Access: On the first day of the testing session, the hotel must provide the COR/Designee with a set of keys/key cards for all rooms being used during the session.

Confirmation of Program: The COR/Designee will provide the hotel a tentative schedule 30 days in advance of each UCE session. The COR/Designee will confirm the schedule 14 days prior to the start of the session.

Confirmation of Assigned Rooms: Based on the attendance and room needs provided by the COR/Designee, the hotel must confirm all meeting room assignments within 5 calendar days of receipt of the confirmed schedule.

Change in Function Times and 24-Hour Room Hold: While operating hours for UCE activities are generally 6:00 AM to 8:00 PM local time, the hotel must hold meeting rooms on a 24-hour basis (12 AM to 12 AM) for the days indicated unless the COR/Designee releases the space hold back to the hotel. Meeting start and stop times may not be adjusted without the approval of the COR/Designee.

OCC Signage: The OCC will display signs in and around the meeting room blocked for OCC's use, and use hotel marquee signs as permissible. This signage may read "Testing in Progress—Do Not Disturb," "Quiet Please – Testing In Progress," or similar, and/or contain other information pertinent to the UCE testing process. If hotel marquee signs display the room's use, OCC will dictate wording displayed.

Session Cancellation: While session cancellations are expected to be rare, sessions must be fully cancelable at the OCC's discretion. In the event of cancellation, OCC will be liable for payment for conference and meeting room space based on the schedule below:
