4.b Supporting information and facts (i.e. the details surrounding the requirement that supports the selection made in 4.a).

Notice of Intent (NOI) 2031ZA26N00013 to sole source the award to Koenig & Bauer Banknote Solutions SA posted on SAM.gov 11 February 2026, with a response closing date of 20 February 2026. No response received from industry.

These spare parts were designed and manufactured by Koenig & Bauer Banknote Solutions SA to produce their Super Simultan (Offset) presses, Intaglio (I-10 and Super Orlof Intaglio) presses, COPE (Currency Overprinting and Packaging) presses, and the LEPE (Large Examination and Printing Equipment) presses which are in operation at both BEP facilities. These items are an integral part of the above stated printing systems. KBBS has not released for sale or authorized the manufacture of these items by any other parts or press vendors or manufacturers. These items are therefore proprietary to KBBS in terms of parts designed and produced by KBBS specifically for this type of highly specialized equipment.

The BEP intends to sole-source this requirement and award to KBBS. The applicable North American Classification Code (NAICS) is 333248. All Other Industrial Machinery Manufacturing.

5. Any other important information.

Market research indicates that market conditions remain unchanged for requirements of this nature. Despite BEP's ongoing efforts to foster competition, it has been unable to identify sources with the necessary technical capabilities and expertise to provide the requirement spare parts.

Given the unique nature of BEP's business, the specific machinery and spare parts available to BEP, and the essential components needed to sustain operations, it is unlikely that BEP will be able to foster competition under this proposed contract action or any future action involving proprietary items necessary for this highly specialized equipment.
