Question No.	Question	Government Response
10	Please kindly share any lessons learned or performance considerations from prior contract(s) that have influenced the scope or requirements in the present solicitation.	A primary lesson learned from previous engagements is the critical importance of verifying a vendor's service delivery capabilities. This includes confirming their ability to provide reliable service within all required geographical areas and their capacity to consistently meet the service response times stipulated in the solicitation.
11	Please provide additional detail regarding the relative weighting or importance of the evaluation factors.	The Government will conduct its evaluation on the basis that all specified factors hold equal weight. This approach stems from the determination that each factor is indispensable for fulfilling the mission's operational objectives. Accordingly, offerors are advised that no single factor will be given more significance than another during the source selection process. All evaluation factors in the solicitation are weighted equally. Each factor is necessary for the Government's mission so therefore all are critical in considering a proposal.
