

Banking Information Access Requirements

April 15, 2026

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) requires access to an online database of banking information to identify current U.S. banks' Writs, Legal Order Processing, or other Contacts for service of writs, assets freezes and other Court Orders.

1. Access to the following data is required:
 - a. Information on domestic banks
 - b. Institution names, ownership, location(s), and subsidiaries
 - c. Contact information for Writs, Legal Order Processing, or other preferred contacts for services of writs, assets freezes and other Court Orders
 - d. Contact information for key personnel including email, telephone
 - e. Required Personal Service information including Registered Agents in all U.S. states and territories.
 - f. Full details of information on banks shall be as follows: the contact information (including email, registered agent, and physical address) for service of Writs, garnishments and Asset freezes.
 - g.

If available, a platform that would allow users to interact directly with banks and capture sent or uploaded documents from them securely is preferred.

The information shall be provided for no less than 12 entities annually.

The access shall be for 16 users.