

#	Question	Response
1	How can I get more details about the process and submitting?	All publicly available information is published to SAM.gov. Please see the instructions to request access to SSI and CNSI to obtain additional information needed to submit a system for testing.
2	Is the announcement also for colorimetric test kits or only for Desktop/table ETD system?	This announcement is for ETD Systems.
3	Can my system participate in the QPL process?	The announcement outlines the requirements for the QPL process. Any system that meets the requirements can participate.
4	Can an OEM from another country obtain SSI following the procedures outlined in the announcement?	Instructions for requesting access to SSI and CNSI for foreign nationals are outlined in the QPL Announcement. SSI and CNSI are provided to those individuals cleared to receive this information via this process regardless of where they are located.
5	Does a current DD254 suffice as an "existing approved DD254" or must the DD254 be specific to ETD?	The DD254 must be specific to ETD.
6	Section 2.2.2 states that vendors can request a DD254 from TSA but it does not identify where to send the request. Can you please clarify the correct POC for this request?	This information should be provided to the Contracting Officer at Jessica.Seay@tsa.dhs.gov. The QPL Announcement has been updated to clarify this requirement.
7	What if I have questions on the SSI / Classified documents when I receive them and the Question and Answer Window is closed?	A separate Question and Answer window will be open for vetted companies following the dissemination of the SSI / Classified documents.
